

21st April 2020

Online Development

Name of the Class: Website Design

Objectives

1. The learner shall be able to describe what the Internet is.
 - a. Teaching Method – Definition compiled by instructor, presented in slide form for self learning.
 - b. Teaching Materials – Self Learning Slides (SLS), internet connectivity on desktop or laptop computer.
 - c. Evaluation – Learner can produce correct definition.
2. The learner is to define what a website is.
 - a. Teaching Method – Lecture notes compiled by instructor, presented in slide form for self learning.
 - b. Teaching Materials –SLS, internet connectivity on desktop or laptop computer.
 - c. Evaluation – Learner can write a correct definition.
3. The learner will be able to differentiate between static and dynamic website.
 - a. Teaching Method – Definition compiled by lecturer, presented in slide form for self learning.
 - b. Teaching Materials –SLS, internet connectivity on desktop or laptop computer.
 - c. Evaluation – Learner can write down correct definitions.
4. The learner will define HTML.
 - a. Teaching Method – Definition sourced from Wikipedia, presented in slide form for self learning.
 - b. Teaching Materials –SLS, internet connectivity on desktop or laptop computer.
 - c. Evaluation – Learner can write a correct definition.
5. The learner will code a basic website.

- a. Teaching Method – Examples sourced from www.w3schools.com, presented in slide form for self learning.
- b. Teaching Materials –SLS, internet connectivity on desktop or laptop computer.
- c. Evaluation – Learner can write down the correct codes which create a website.

